Why Factory Audits Matter

In global supply chains, trust cannot be assumed – it must be verified. A factory that looks reliable on paper may still face hidden issues: outdated machinery, inconsistent quality systems, unverified certifications, or poor working conditions.

Without thorough audits, companies risk late shipments, compliance failures, or reputational damage that can derail entire projects.

At AC-TR, we make sure your suppliers are not just saying the right things, but proving them.

Our Approach

Our audits go beyond a quick checklist. Each assessment combines on-site or remote inspections with a structured framework that evaluates:

- Capacity – Can the factory realistically handle your volumes and timelines?
- Quality systems – Are there robust processes, documentation, and traceability in place?
- Certifications – From ISO 9001 to IATF 16949, we validate certificates and test alignment with international standards.
- Ethical standards – Working conditions, health & safety, and environmental compliance are checked to safeguard your brand.

You receive a comprehensive audit report highlighting red flags, strengths, and actionable recommendations. This gives you the confidence to make go/no-go decisions based on evidence, not assumptions.

What sets AC-TR Apart?

- Local expertise with global standards – Our team in Turkey understands both factory realities and European/US compliance expectations.
- Flexible audits – On-site inspections for critical suppliers or remote video audits when speed and cost matter most.
- Improvement focus – We don't just point out problems. We provide guidance that helps factories upgrade and qualify.
- Zero conflicts of interest – We represent your interests only, not the factories'.

Outcomes You can Expect

By the end of an audit, you'll have:

- A clear, structured report within 3–5 business days
- Verified certifications and compliance documentation
- Practical recommendations for quality and process improvement
- Go/no-go guidance for your sourcing or production decisions

Audits are not just about risk elimination; they are about creating a foundation for reliable, scalable supply chains.
